STAGE 1 PROJECT

A real project was set, to design and create an event or series of events to celebrate Capital School of English's fifteenth anniversary. These events should include past students, as well as the current students, host families and staff. Students worked on the project over three days, speaking to existing students, researching locations and brainstorming ideas, before successfully presenting their proposals to the director of the school.

From doing the project and the presentation students said they learned practical things like 'how to make a powerpoint presentation better and what I should show in my project,' (Cherry, China), and also important skills to take forward, 'I've learned to work in a team, accept the ideas of others,' (Elisa, Germany), 'Doing the presentation I lost the fear to speak English in front of people.' (Gabriel, Brazil)

Those students that left at the end of the first week were satisfied with what they achieved they had found it 'an interesting experience' (Noah, Switzerland) and enjoyed its 'interaction' (Sarah, Germany). They felt their communication and teamwork skills had improved and they had developed their confidence in speaking and using English.

'I've learned that it can be very interesting to work together with a lot of people from other countries,'
Noah, Switzerland

'I've improved my skills in English ...I'm more confident with speaking'
Sarah, Germany

STAGE 2 PROJECT with CROWD

The students that continued were briefed by CROWD, a creative communications agency that has offices in five countries. They are a growing company and are trying to look ahead and invest in ways that essential collaborative and teamwork elements of their work can be developed to reduce the boundaries of distance and cultural difference in their workforce. They place great importance on employees having a sense of identity within the company and believe social interaction is extremely important for creating this and promoting a positive community feel. The brief asked the students to address all of these elements, to look at existing models but also to think ahead to how these could be developed as technology changes. It was a challenging brief but 'It was a great experience, needed innovative and creative thinking and was another way to learn.' Santino, Venezuela

COURSE SUMMARY

Further to the final presentation of their solutions and having worked with the students Lee Poynter, Design Head for CROWD commented that the students had definitely opened up channels for thought and presented them with a new perspective on their approach. For the students highlights of the course had been the teamwork, the multicultural aspects, the new work experiences and that you can study and have fun.

STUDENT FEEDBACK

Without exception all the students said they would recommend the course because:

'It's very useful to learn English and practise with others,'
Pierre, France

'you always use your creativity and your imagination to work here,'
Santino, Venezuela

'You can improve your skills at English and teamwork,'
Gabriel, Brazil

'It's a good experience... we developed more confidence working in a team because we had to work and think together.'
Eliza, Germany

'Future Success is a good course for teenagers. I was able to use my existing interpersonal skills during the two weeks and learned many new ones. I worked as part of a team and experienced a real working environment, an experience I would not be able to get in typical academic lessons set in a classroom. I met people from a lot of different countries so it was also a good way to appreciate and learn about new cultures.'
Cherry, China
